Let's Start!

I love sushi, but I'm not a fan of olives! What about you?

Learning Outcome

Accurately use information about people, their likes and dislikes, homes or countries in communicative situations.

Can Do Statements

- I can talk about times of the day.
- I can say what I like and dislike.
- I can express what I like and what I love.

Ask your partner:

- What things do you like in your life?
- What things don't you like?

Let's Explore!

John and Sally plan Sally's birthday party. Who is a fan of sushi?

* A "fan" is a person who enjoys something. You can be a "fan" of a sports team or a "fan" of doing something.

Instructions: Read the text aloud.

- Sally: Do you like Mexican food, John?
John: No, I don't like Mexican food very much. It's too spicy.
Sally: How about Greek food?
John: Oh no. I can't stand small olives.
Sally: Japanese?
John: Yes, I love Japanese food! Why?
Sally: My birthday is next Wednesday. Want to go to Koi's Sushi Inn?
John: Sure! That's my favorite restaurant. I'm a fan of their big tuna rolls, but I don't like the soup.
Sally: I like everything on the menu.
John: Oh wait! They are closed on weekdays.
Sally: Is it open on weekends?
John: Yes, they are open in the afternoons and in the evenings on the weekend.
Sally: Great! Let's go Saturday evening.
John: OK! That's a great idea. Let's meet at 7 p.m.
Sally: 7 o' clock is perfect.
John: Fantastic! Now I'm hungry!

Let's Practice!

Learning Points

Talking About Time

You use these words to talk about parts of the day:

morning - from around 5:00 a.m. to 12:00 p.m.*

afternoon - from 12:00 noon to around 6:00 p.m.

evening - from around 6:00 p.m. to 12:00 midnight.

night - from around 12:00 a.m. to 5:00 a.m.

*12:00 p.m. is noon, when you eat lunch

12:00 a.m. is midnight, at night

You use these words to talk about parts of the week:

weekday - Monday - Friday

weekend - Saturday + Sunday

These words can be placed in the plural form to show you do something on a regular basis.

We use prepositions when we talk about the times in the day and week.

We use IN for long parts of the day: in the morning, in the afternoon, in the evening.

We use ON for parts of the week: on weekdays (Monday to Friday), on the weekend.

Examples:

- The library is closed in the evenings.
- The restaurant is open in the afternoons and in the evenings on weekends.
- I go to work on Saturdays.
