Blog: Travel the World With Sally

Welcome to my life!

This is my blog.

My name is Sally. I am from Cambridge, Massachusetts.

I love languages! I am learning Spanish at night.

I go to the bookstore near the coffee shop with my friends but I hate libraries. They are so boring!

I go to yoga on Mondays and Wednesdays. Natalie's sister does yoga too! It is fun.

I like to write about places, cities, and food.

I also like to travel to new places and meet new people.

Travel the world with me. Read my blog.

E-mail me your comments and ideas.

Happy reading!

Let's Practice!

Learning Points

Possessive Adjectives

Possessive adjectives show ownership (who it belongs to).

Pronoun	Possessive Adjective (Singular)	Example
I	my	My card is red.
You	your	Your house is beautiful.
He	his	His computer is new.
She	her	Her hair is short.
It	its	Its fur is brown.

Possessive Adjectives go before nouns.

Note: Its is a possessive adjective.

Examples:

- Please keep your office neat.
- The cat's tail is long. --> Its tail is long.

Imperatives

You use the Imperative to give orders, instructions and warnings.

Please note:

With the Imperative, you do not use a subject.

Example:

You wash the dishes. ✗ => Wash the dishes. ✓

You use the infinitive form (no "to").

Example:

To come in please. ✗ => Come in please. ✓

Examples:

- Finish your vegetables.
- Wash your plate.
